Phil's Forecast:

I project these two in the NFC title game this year. Green Bay is 8-1-1 ATS in home openers and the home team in this series has covered five straight with the average win by 20 points per game. I feel that Seattle is the stronger team as they clearly have the better defense, while Pete Carroll is 10-3-3 ATS as an underdog the last five years. I personally find it tough to go versus either of these two squads but my computer likes the underdog a lot as it calls for an outright upset and they are a 3 point dog. I will let the computer handle this forecast since I am torn.
